

BookTrust Early Years - Social media toolkit

Using social media is a great way to engage your local community with the benefits of books and reading.

In this toolkit we're sharing some images and suggested posts to help you talk about what you're getting up to. You know your community best, so feel free to tailor these to suit your tone of voice and style.

Useful tags and links

We'd love to see what you're getting up to, so feel free to tag us into any of your posts using @BookTrust – this tag is the same across X (formerly known as Twitter), Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn and Bluesky. It would be great if you could use the hashtag #Bookstart.

If you'd like to point towards our website, some useful links are:

- Our homepage: booktrust.org.uk
- Our Family Hub: booktrust.org.uk/familyhub
- Our Bookfinder: booktrust.org.uk/bookfinder

Assets

We're providing some social media images that you can use on X (formerly known as Twitter), Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn and Bluesky – you can find them by clicking in this Assets folder.

We recommend using landscape images (1280x720px) for X, Bluesky and LinkedIn; square images (1080x1080px) for Facebook; portrait images (1080x1350px) for the Instagram grid; and vertical images (1080x1920px) for Instagram Stories.

Social media copy

- Reading isn't just for bedtime or quiet time – you can share stories anywhere, any time. Pop a book in your bag for when you're out and about or try making up your own stories that your little one will love!

Advice and helpful hints

- Have fun! Social media is a great opportunity to talk to families and get your message out there, so enjoy yourself.
- Always try to use images on your posts if you can (you can use the assets we've provided in this toolkit).
- It's great to have a call to action on your social media posts – a link to an event, an invitation to comment, or an encouragement to get involved – but don't worry if you can't think of anything to include... posting general comments about the benefits of sharing stories is brilliant too!

If you have any questions, do please feel free to get in touch with your local Bookstart Coordinator.
